

The Secrets of Talent

Behind any extraordinary achievement, the trait of a special ability of its creator has worked which is we called talent. Every man is born with some kind of talent although some persons can show it but others cannot. Talent needs hard work, good environment, perseverance, patience, resolute aim, tolerance and a little bit of luck. The definition of talent is quite extensive. What the people have something special ability to do good or bad achievement is the sign of talent but we generally recognize only good deed as talent. The reason is that bad deed only brings harmful effect on our life so it is not talent. If we think it from a different angle, it is the negative talent manifestation. Whatever talent you may have, it will make you somehow proud.

There is another way to show your talent is the right time. Time is vital for talent manifestation. Talent is always limited for a time being. If you extensively use talent in early ages and there will be a little bit of talent to be left for use in latter part of your life. In early age (5 years-10 years) of your life, if you get a chance to show your talent, keep it in control with your parent's self-will and self-confidence. In early stage of our life, talent can brings quick fame but it is a short-termed and very difficult to keep its momentum in the latter part of your life. Talent is like a glass of water as if you quickly take sipping it and it will quickly finish. But still there will be a very little amount of water in the glass and it will be useless. There are three stages of talent showing time. The beginner time this has spanning 7 years (21 yrs age - 28 yrs age). This time talent needs caring and nourishing. One mistake can jeopardize your mission. The intermediate time this has spanning 7 years (32 yrs age - 39 yrs age). This time your talent is fully operational in full swing. The advanced time this has spanning more than 10 years ( 40 yrs age- 55 yrs age). This time talent will work on experience which you have earned so far.

The varieties of talent are soft talent and hard talent. Soft talent which is in-born type and hard talent which is self-made type. Soft talent comes from gene and hard talent comes from self-made. The man with soft talent has 80 percentage original of it whereas the man with hard talent has 50 percentage original of it. Soft talented people never depend on opportunity rather they make its own way to show their talent. Hard talented people need opportunity and a little bit of help to show their talent. Both types of talented people are socially recognized and have a little marginal difference.

To spot talent in people, you have to be talented yourself. Only talented person can find another talented person as it works like a mirror. From the extrovert people, you can trace hidden talent very easily but the introvert people need artificial stimulation for tracing hidden talent from them. One thing we should remember that sometimes talent need to be protect from its extinction. Some talents can be found in a thousand years. Again sometimes you need a little bit of sacrifice to make way for a rare talent.

So if you respect talent and help it to grow as it will take you to the unknown world which you never imagined before.

© Manik Roy 2008